Cautionary Statements

The issuer has filed a registration statement (including a prospectus) with the SEC for the offering to which this communication relates. Before you invest, you should read the prospectus in that registration statement and other documents the issuer has filed with the SEC for more complete information about the issuer and this offering. You may get these documents for free by visiting EDGAR on the SEC Web site at www.sec.gov. Alternatively, the issuer, any underwriter, or any dealer participating in the offering will arrange to send you the prospectus if you request it by calling toll-free 1-800-800-4693. This prospectus is available at <http://sec.gov/Archives/edgar/data/745981/000119312509249516/ds1a.htm>.

Certain statements included in this presentation, other than statements of historical fact, are forward-looking statements (as su item is defined in Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, referred to as the Securities Act, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, referred to as the Exchange Act, and the regulations thereunder), which are intended to be covered by the safe harbors created thereby. The words anticipate, believe, estimate, expect, intend, may, might, will, would, could, should, guidance, potential, continue, project, forecast, confident, and similar words are typically used to identify forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements include, among others, statements regarding (1) our growth opportunities and ability to capitalize on them, (2) our ability to maintain our liquidity position, (3) our net interest margin and (4) our ability to implement cost savings initiatives to improve efficiency. These statements are based on assumptions and assessments made by management in light of their experience and their perception of historical trends, current conditions, expected future developments and other factors they believe to be appropriate. Any forward-looking statements are not guarantees of MidSouth's future performance and are subject to risks and uncertainties and may be affected by various factors that may cause actual results, developments and business decisions to differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements. Some of the factors that may cause actual results, developments and business decisions to differ materially from those contemplated by such forward-looking statements include (i) changes in national or local economic and business conditions, including, without limitation, changes related to the oil and gas industries, (ii) greater than expected loan losses, (iii) changes in interest rates and/or market prices of securities and other assets, (iv) the timing and impact of potential future acquisitions, the success or failure of integration operations, and the ability to capitalize on growth opportunities upon entering new markets; (v) legislative and regulatory changes including changes in banking, securities and tax laws and regulations and their application by our regulators, and (vi) and the risk factors discussed under the heading "Risk Factors" in the prospectus.

MidSouth can give no assurance that any of the events anticipated by the forward-looking statements will occur or, if any of them does, what impact they will have on MidSouth's results of operations and financial condition. MidSouth disclaims any intent or obligation to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statements, regardless of whether new information becomes available or future developments occur or otherwise.

This presentation also includes non-GAAP financial measures determined by methods other than in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles ( GAAP ).
Such non-GAAP financial measures

include

the

ratio

of

tangible

common

equity

to tangible assets, (2) tangible book value per share, and (3) pre-tax pre-provision numbers. The most comparable GAAP measures to these measures are the ratio of equity to total assets, book value per share, and net income, respectively.

We use these non-GAAP financial measures because we believe they are useful for evaluating our financial condition, operations

and

performance

over

periods

time,

as

well

in

managing

and

evaluating

our

business

and

in

discussions

about

operations and performance. We also believe these non-GAAP financial measures provides users of our financial information a meaningful measure for assessing our financial condition, financial results and credit trends, as well as comparison to financial results for prior periods. These disclosures should not be viewed as a substitute for results determined in accordance with GAAP and are not necessarily comparable to non-GAAP performance measures that other companies may use. For a reconciliation of these non-GAAP financial measures to the most comparable GAAP measure, please see the page 20 of this presentation.
