On April 24, 2019, Bath & Beyond Inc. distributed the following message to its associates:

Dear Fellow Associates,

As you know, a group of three activist investors has made public statements about Bed Bath & Beyond and is seeking to replace our Board of Directors. As part of their process, we expect that very soon they will release a lengthy presentation – commonly referred to as a “white paper” – outlining their plan for what they believe we should be doing, based upon what they have gathered about our Company from external observations. It is likely to include many things we are already doing, some things we chose not to do and, in general, be highly critical of us.

As with any of our investors, our Board and management team are open to the activists investors’ ideas and, once released, will carefully review their presentation to see if there are any useful recommendations to incorporate into our transformation plan. We have been asking for their ideas but so far, they have chosen not to share them with us. We are open to good ideas from any source, and our emphasis on having the right strategies in place has been driving the important business transformation that is underway.

We will continue to keep you informed. While this will likely continue to get media attention, the most important thing that you can do is remain focused on executing our plan and providing our customers with a superior experience that exceeds their expectations.

Thank you for all that you do as we continue our efforts to transform our Company and be the trusted expert for the home and heartfelt life events.

Steven
