Governments and school systems turn to AMS Advantage® to further streamline their financial management and procurement needs

Dallas, Baltimore County and Baltimore County Public Schools to implement AMS Advantage 3

Fairfax, Virginia January 31, 2005 CGI-AMS, the wholly-owned U.S. operating subsidiary of CGI Group Inc. (CGI) (TSX: GIB.SV.A; NYSE: GIB), announced today that the City of Dallas, Texas, the 9th largest city in the United States, Baltimore County, the 3rd largest county in Maryland and, Baltimore County Public Schools, the 25th largest school district in the United States, will implement AMS Advantage® 3 to further streamline their business processes.

AMS Advantage 3 is a Web-based Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) suite specifically designed for governments and school systems. It enables them to effectively and efficiently manage real-time financial transactions and business intelligence and saves governments as well as citizens both time and money.

The City of Dallas, Texas, a long-standing AMS Advantage customer, has chosen CGI-AMS's Web-based financial management, procurement and reporting solutions. The City will manage an annual budget of approximately $2 billion with AMS Advantage.

The City of Dallas chose AMS Advantage because it met the City's financial management and procurement needs. AMS Advantage 3 will save the City a considerable sum of money compared to other ERP solutions, said David Cook, chief financial officer, City of Dallas.

Baltimore County, MD and Baltimore County Public Schools also selected the AMS Advantage solution for financial management, procurement and human resources management. Collectively they will provide services to 27,000 employees, 2.5 million citizens and manage an operating budget of $2 billion dollars using the Web-based Advantage solutions.

By selecting AMS Advantage for its financial, procurement and human resources needs, Baltimore County and Baltimore County Public Schools gain consistency and parity between their organizations by eliminating redundancy and increasing access to information across their organizations.

Donna Morea, president of CGI-AMS added: We are very pleased with the faith our customers have continued to place in our ability to provide them tools to streamline processes to help their organizations run more efficiently. Our solution gives our customers rapid access to make informed business decisions.

CGI-AMS has more than 190 public sector clients, of which 42 have committed to implementing AMS Advantage 3. The company incorporates more than 30 years of experience and knowledge in the public sector market. AMS Advantage is a flexible, module-based solution that automates document workflow, decreases paperwork and ultimately improves customer service and facilitates decision-making. To learn more visit www.cgi-ams.com.
