FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

DURA AUTOMOTIVE TO COMMENCE TENDER OFFER TO ACQUIRE ALL CLASS B COMMON STOCK OF METHODE ELECTRONICS FOR $23 PER SHARE

ROCHESTER HILLS, Mich., July 3 DURA Automotive Systems, Inc. (Nasdaq: DRRA), announced today that it plans to commence a tender offer for all of the outstanding Class B Common Stock of Methode Electronics, Inc. (Nasdaq: METHB) at a price of $23.00 per share in cash. As of June 5, 2003, there were 1,087,305 shares of Class B Common Stock outstanding. Methode's Class A Common Stock will not be subject to the tender offer.

The tender offer will be subject to customary conditions, including a majority of Methode Electronic's Class B shares on a fully diluted basis being tendered and not withdrawn and the holders of Class B Common Stock continuing to have the right to elect directors representing up to approximately 75 percent of Methode's board of directors. The offer will not be subject to due diligence or financing.

Methode is a key electronics supplier to the automotive industry. DURA is interested in Methode's expertise in the areas of switches, sensors, electronic throttle controls, electronic control units and drive-by-wire technologies. DURA currently uses one or more of these devices on its parking brakes, pedals, power tire carriers, window regulators, seats and shifter systems.

DURA has been very interested in Methode's expertise in electronics over the years, however, the Class B shareholders' control of the company has limited DURA's investment opportunities, said Larry Denton, president and chief executive officer of DURA Automotive. With the recent disclosure that the Class B shareholders are interested in selling their shares, we have increased our focus on investing in Methode. We believe a strategic investment in Methode will strengthen DURA's current and future product offerings by teaming with an experienced and well-respected electronics development staff. In addition, this partnership offers exciting growth opportunities for Methode through DURA's extensive product offerings and customer base.
