AUDIT COMMITTEE REPORT

The Audit Committee of the Board of Directors is comprised of the four directors named below. Each member of the Audit Committee is an independent director as defined by Section 301 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 and by NASDAQ's independent director and audit committee listing standards. In accordance with its written charter, the Audit Committee assists the Board in generally overseeing the quality and integrity of the accounting and financial reporting practices of the Company. The Audit Committee is directly responsible for appointing, compensating, and overseeing the work of the Company's independent auditor. To carry out its duties, the Audit Committee has established procedures for pre-approving all audit and permissible non-audit services provided by the independent auditor.

In connection with the audit process for 2002, the Audit Committee obtained from the independent auditors a formal written statement describing all relationships between the auditors and the Company that might bear on the auditors' independence consistent with Independence Standards Board No. 1, Independence Discussions with Audit Committees, discussed with the auditors any relationships that may have an impact on their objectivity and independence, and satisfied itself as to the auditors' independence. The Audit Committee also discussed with management and the independent auditors the quality and adequacy of the Company's internal controls. The Audit Committee reviewed with the independent auditors their audit plans, audit scope and identification of audit risks.

The Audit Committee discussed with the independent auditors the matters required to be discussed by Statement on Auditing Standards No. 61, as amended, Communication with Audit Committees and, with and without management present, discussed and reviewed the results of the independent auditors' examination of the financial statements.

Management has the responsibility for the preparation of the Company's financial statements and the independent auditors have the responsibility for the examination of those statements.

Based on the above-mentioned review and discussions with management and the independent auditors, the Audit Committee recommended to the Board that the Company's audited financial statements be included in its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2002, for filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

These options were immediately exercisable and will expire on May 15, 2012.

EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

The Compensation Committee Report on Executive Compensation

The underlying philosophy of Investors Title Company's compensation program is the provision of competitive compensation for all employees. Factors such as an employee's job performance, experience and contribution to the growth of the Company are considered in determining his or her compensation. The Company strives to provide a compensation package that allows it to both attract and retain qualified and experienced corporate officers and key employees while motivating its employees to perform to their fullest extent. The Company's compensation package remains competitive with the compensation packages offered by other employers of comparable size engaged in similar lines of business.

In evaluating the performance and establishing the incentive compensation of the Chief Executive Officer and other members of senior management, the Compensation Committee has reviewed and considered senior management's successful efforts in maximizing the Company's sales by expanding its operations into new market areas. When reviewing management's performance and determining appropriate compensation, the Compensation Committee also took into account management's consistent commitment to the long-term success of the Company through the introduction of innovative strategies and procedures and intra-Company restructuring. Based upon an assessment of these factors, the Compensation Committee believes that members of the Company's senior management remain dedicated to achieving long-term growth and that the compensation package it has approved has contributed to the dedication and accomplishments of senior management.

Compensation for each of the senior executives, including the named executive officers, consists of a base salary, a cash and/or stock bonus, incentive stock options and a contribution under a Simplified Employee Pension Plan. In determining the amount of each such element of the compensation package for senior executives, the Compensation Committee takes into consideration the value of each executive's total compensation.

The Chief Executive Officer makes salary recommendations every year. He then reviews the proposed annual salaries with the Compensation Committee, and the Committee recommends any modifications it deems appropriate based upon industry standards, national surveys, and individual contributions and performance. The Compensation Committee uses the same criteria to fix the Chief Executive Officer's base salary, in addition to assessing his past performance and expectations as to his future leadership of the Company's business.

Stock and cash bonuses awarded both to the executive officers named in the Summary Compensation Table set forth on the following page and to other senior executives of the Company are based upon their job performance throughout the year.

In addition to the factors previously discussed that pertain to the introduction of innovations and expanded market areas, the Compensation Committee also considered the performance of the Company's competitors and other more subjective criteria in setting the Chief Executive Officer's bonus award for 2002.

Periodically, the Compensation Committee considers issuing stock options, which are intended to link the interests and concerns of the Company's executives with those of its shareholders. Stock option grants provide an incentive for executives to focus on managing the Company from the perspective of an owner with an equity stake in the Company. It is the Compensation Committee's opinion that past stock option grants have been successful in focusing the Company's senior management on building profitability and shareholder value.

In establishing stock option grants, the Compensation Committee reviews the proposed option awards with the Chief Executive Officer. Options may be granted to key employees, officers and directors of the Company. The Chief Executive Officer is eligible to participate in the same executive compensation plans, including stock option plans, which are available to the other senior executives.

ITEM 1

ELECTION OF DIRECTORS

The Company's Board of Directors is composed of 10 members divided into three classes with staggered terms of three years for each class.

Lillard H. Mount, one of the three members of the class of directors whose terms expire in 2003, is not standing for re-election. Accordingly, H. Joe King, Jr., currently serving a three-year term on the Board of Directors that expires in 2005, has been nominated for re-election to the Board for a term that will expire in 2006. Mr. King's present class of directors contains four members. If Mr. King is elected to the Board to serve until 2006, he will no longer serve with his current class and the number of directors in each class will be equalized so that each class of directors contains three members who have been elected to a three-year term.

James A. Fine, Jr., H. Joe King, Jr., and James R. Morton are nominated for re-election to serve for a three-year period or until their respective successors have been elected and qualified. The nominees will be elected if they receive a plurality of the votes cast for their election. Broker nonvotes and abstentions will not affect the election results if a quorum is present. If any of the nominees should withdraw or otherwise become unavailable for reasons not presently known, shares represented by proxies may be voted for other persons in their place in accordance with the best judgment of the persons named in the Proxy.

THE BOARD RECOMMENDS A VOTE FOR THE ELECTION OF THE NOMINEES FOR DIRECTORS.
