Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure

On May 12, 2006, ITC Holdings Corp. (the Company) filed a presentation on a Current Report on Form 8-K regarding its agreement to acquire Michigan Electric Transmission Company, LLC (METC), which included a forecast for combined capital expenditures for 2007 of METC and the Company's subsidiary, ITCTransmission.

The Company has revised its forecast for the combined capital expenditures of METC and ITCTransmission for 2007 to be within a range of $160 million to $190 million to reflect potential delays in investments in the METC system. The forecast is revised from the previously announced range of $240 million to $260 million. The revised 2007 forecast is based on the Company's continuing review of METC's 2007 capital projects plans and the status of preparations for such projects. It also is based on and includes the impacts of uncertainty around the timing of closing the Company's acquisition of METC, which is expected to occur during the second half of 2006, and after which time the Company will be able to control joint planning of capital projects and preparations for investments in the METC system. Finally, the revised forecast is impacted by the ability to procure equipment for investments in the METC system, which have long lead times for production and have not yet been ordered.

The revised forecast for 2007 capital expenditures does not change the Company's expectations for total projected investments for the seven year period from January 1, 2005 through December 31, 2011, during which the Company expects that ITCTransmission and METC combined will invest approximately $1.6 billion in their systems to rebuild and upgrade existing equipment, relieve congestion and provide better access to more efficiently priced generation sources. The revised forecast also does not change the Company's earnings guidance for 2007. Finally, the forecast for capital expenditures for ITCTransmission stand-alone provided on May 12, 2006 remains unchanged.
