PART I

Item 1.

Business

The Company is a Wisconsin corporation incorporated in the year 1906 as Weyenberg Shoe Manufacturing Company. Effective April 25, 1990, the name of the corporation was changed to Weyco Group, Inc.

The Company and its subsidiaries engage in one line of business, the distribution of men's footwear.

The principal brands of shoes sold by the Company are "Florsheim," "Nunn Bush," and "Stacy Adams." The Company also has other brands, including "Brass Boot" and "Nunn Bush NXXT," which are included within Nunn Bush sales figures, and "SAO by Stacy Adams," which is included within Stacy Adams sales. Trademarks maintained by the Company on these names are important to the business. The Company's products consist of both mid-priced quality leather dress shoes which would be worn as a part of more formal and traditional attire and quality casual footwear of man-made materials or leather which would be appropriate for leisure or less formal occasions. The Company's footwear, and that of the industry in general, is available in a broad range of sizes and widths, primarily purchased to meet the needs and desires of the American male population.

The Company purchases finished shoes from outside suppliers, primarily located in China, India and Brazil. Almost all of these foreign-sourced purchases are denominated in U. S. dollars. Historically, there have been few inflationary pressures in the shoe industry and leather and other component prices have been stable. However, since the latter part of 2006, there has been some upward movement in leather prices. This, along with the decline of the U.S. dollar, has caused some inflationary pressure in the cost of the Company's products. In certain circumstances, the Company is able to increase prices to offset the effect of these increases in costs. The Company previously assembled a small portion of its footwear at one plant in Beaver Dam, Wisconsin. In December 2003, the Company ceased its manufacturing operations. All inventory is now purchased from foreign suppliers. Through the first half of 2007, the Beaver Dam facility still operated as the Company's reconditioning and rework department and processed some returned goods. The Company's lease for its Beaver Dam, Wisconsin facility expired on June 30, 2007, and it was not renewed. Some functions are now outsourced, and the remaining operations were moved to the Company's main distribution center in Glendale, Wisconsin.

The Company's business is separated into two segments - wholesale distribution and retail sales of men's footwear. Wholesale distribution sales, which include both wholesale sales and licensing revenues, constituted approximately 87% of total sales in 2007, 2006 and 2005. At wholesale, shoes are marketed nationwide through more than 10,000 shoe, clothing and department stores. Sales are to unaffiliated customers, primarily in North America, with some distribution in Europe. In 2007 and 2006, sales to the Company's largest customer, JCPenney, were 12% and 10%, respectively, of total sales. There were no customers with sales above 10% in 2005. Net sales to foreign customers were $18.1 million, $12.8 million and $11.8 million in 2007, 2006 and 2005, respectively. The Company employs traveling salespeople who sell the Company's products to retail outlets. Shoes are shipped to these retailers primarily from the Company's distribution center in Glendale, Wisconsin. Although there is no clearly identifiable seasonality in the men's footwear business, new styles are historically developed and shown twice each year, in spring and fall. In accordance with industry practices, the Company is required to carry significant amounts of inventory to meet customer delivery requirements and periodically provides extended payment terms to customers. The Company has licensing agreements with third parties who sell its branded shoes overseas, as well as licensing agreements with apparel and accessory manufacturers in the United States. Licensing revenues were approximately 2% of total net sales in 2007, 2006 and 2005.

Retail sales constituted approximately 13% of total sales in 2007, 2006 and 2005. In the retail division at December 31, 2007, there were 39 company-operated stores in the United States, two retail stores in major cities in Europe and an Internet business. Sales in retail stores are made directly to the consumer by Company employees. In addition to the sale of the Company's brands of footwear in these retail stores, other branded footwear and accessories are also sold in order to provide the consumer with as complete a selection as practically possible.

As of December 31, 2007, the Company had a backlog of $30 million of confirmed orders compared with $28 million as of December 31, 2006. This does not include unconfirmed blanket orders from customers. All orders are expected to be filled within one year.

As of December 31, 2007, the Company employed 414 persons, of which 19 were members of collective bargaining units. The Company ratified new contracts covering the majority of these employees during 2005 and in early 2006. Future wage and benefit increases under the contracts are not expected to have a significant impact on the future operations or financial position of the Company.

Price, quality, service and brand recognition are all important competitive factors in the shoe industry and the Company has been recognized as a leader in all of them. The Company does not engage in any specific research and development activities. However, the Company does have a design department that is continually reviewing and updating product designs. Compliance with environmental regulations historically has not had, and is not expected to have, a material adverse effect on the Company's results of operations or cash flows.

The Company makes available, free of charge, copies of its annual report on Form 10-K, quarterly reports on Form 10-Q, current reports on Form 8-K and all amendments to those reports upon written or telephone request. Investors can also access these reports through the Company's website, www.weycogroup.com, as soon as reasonably practical after we file or furnish those reports to the SEC. The information on the Company's website is not a part of this filing.

Item 1A.

Risk Factors

There are many factors that affect the Company's business, many of which are beyond the Company's control. The following is a description of the most significant factors that might materially and adversely affect the Company's business, results of operations and financial condition.

The Company is subject to risks related to the retail environment that could adversely impact the Company's business.

The Company is subject to risks associated with doing business in the retail environment, primarily in the United States. Recently, the U.S. retail industry has experienced a growing trend toward consolidation of large retailers. The merger of major retailers could result in the Company losing sales volume or increasing its concentration of business with a few large accounts, resulting in reduced bargaining power on the part of the Company, which could increase pricing pressures and lower the Company's margins. The acquisition of one of the Company's major customers in 2005 adversely impacted the Company's sales in 2006, with a smaller residual impact in 2007.

Changes in consumer preferences could negatively impact the Company.

The Company's success is dependent upon its ability to accurately anticipate and respond to rapidly changing fashion trends and consumer preferences. Failure to predict or respond to current trends or preferences could have an adverse impact on the Company's sales volume and overall performance.

The Company relies on independent foreign sources of production and the availability of leather and other raw materials which could have unfavorable effects on the Company's business.

The Company purchases its products entirely from independent foreign manufacturers primarily in China, India and Brazil. Although the Company has good working relationships with its manufacturers, the Company does not have long-term contracts with them. Thus, the Company could experience increases in manufacturing costs, disruptions in the timely supply of products or unanticipated reductions in manufacturing capacity, any of which could negatively impact the Company's business, results of operations and financial condition. The Company has the ability to move product to different suppliers; however, the transition may not occur smoothly and/or quickly and the Company could miss customer delivery date requirements and, consequently, could lose orders. Additional risks associated with foreign sourcing that could negatively impact the Company's business include adverse changes in foreign economic conditions, import regulations, restrictions on the transfer of funds, duties, tariffs, quotas and political or labor interruptions, disruptions at U.S. or foreign ports or other transportation facilities, foreign currency fluctuations, expropriation and nationalization.

The Company's use of foreign sources of production results in long production and delivery lead times. Therefore, the Company needs to forecast demand at least five months in advance. If forecasts are wrong, it could result in the loss of sales if there is not enough product, or in reduced margins if there is excess inventory that needs to be sold at discounted prices.

Additionally, the Company's products depend on the availability of raw materials, especially leather. Any significant shortages of quantities or increases in the cost of leather could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business and results of operations.

The Company operates in a highly competitive environment, which may result in lower prices and reduce its profits.

The men's footwear market is extremely competitive. The Company competes with manufacturers, distributors and retailers of men's shoes, certain of which are larger and have substantially greater resources than the Company has. The Company competes with these companies primarily on the basis of price, quality, service and brand recognition, all of which are important competitive factors in the shoe industry. The Company's ability to maintain its competitive edge depends upon these factors, as well as its ability to deliver new products at the best value for the consumer, maintain positive brand recognition, and obtain sufficient retail floor space and effective product presentation at retail. If the Company does not remain competitive, the Company's future results of operations and financial condition could decline.

Changes in the U.S. economy may adversely affect the Company.

Spending patterns in the footwear market, and particularly in the moderate market in which a good portion of the Company's products compete, have historically been impacted by consumers' disposable income. As a result, the success of the Company is impacted by changes in the general economic conditions of the U.S. Factors affecting discretionary income for the moderate consumer include, among others, general business conditions, gas and energy costs, employment, consumer confidence, interest rates and taxation.

The Company's business is dependent on information and communication systems, and significant interruptions could disrupt its business.

The Company accepts and fills the majority of its larger customers' orders through the use of Electronic Data Interchange (EDI). It relies on its warehouse management system to efficiently process orders. The corporate office relies on computer systems to efficiently process and record transactions. Significant interruptions in its information and communication systems from power loss, telecommunications failure or computer system failure could significantly disrupt the Company's business and operations.

The Company may not be able to successfully integrate new brands and businesses.

The Company intends to continue to look for new acquisition opportunities. That search could be unsuccessful and costs could be incurred in failed search efforts. If an acquisition does occur, the Company cannot guarantee that it would be able to successfully integrate the brand into its current operations, or that any acquired brand would achieve results in line with the Company's historical performance or its specific expectations for the brand.

Loss of the services of the Company's top executives could adversely affect the business.

Thomas W. Florsheim, Jr., the Company's Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, and John W. Florsheim, the Company's President and Chief Operating Officer, have a strong heritage within the Company and the footwear industry. They possess knowledge, relationships and reputations based on their lifetime exposure to and experience in the Company and the industry. The loss of either one or both of the Company's top executives could have an adverse impact on the Company's performance.

The limited public float and trading volume for the Company's stock may have an adverse impact on the stock price or make it difficult to liquidate.

The Company's common stock is held by a relatively small number of shareholders. The Florsheim family owns over 30% of the stock and one other institutional shareholder holds a significant block. Other officers, directors, and members of management own stock or have the potential to own stock through previously granted stock options. Consequently, the Company has a small float and low average daily trading volume. Future sales of substantial amounts of the Company's common stock in the public market, or the perception that these sales could occur, may adversely impact the market price of the stock and the stock could be difficult to liquidate.
