WITHDRAWAL OF OFFER FOR ABN AMRO AND RESTART OF BUYBACK PROGRAMME

Barclays announces that as at 4 October 2007, the Closing Date of its offer (Offer) for ABN AMRO Holding N.V. (ABN AMRO), not all the conditions relating to the Offer were fulfilled. In particular, the condition that at least 80% of ABN AMRO s issued ordinary share capital as at the Closing Date (excluding any ordinary shares held by ABN AMRO) were tendered, has not been fulfilled. As a result, Barclays withdraws its Offer with immediate effect. Any tenders of ordinary shares, American Depositary Shares, formerly convertible preference shares or DR preference shares under the Offer prior to or after the date of this announcement will be deemed not to have been made.

As at 4 October 2007, 4,410,136 ordinary shares in the share capital of ABN AMRO were tendered under the Offer, as well as 782,945 American Depositary Shares. In addition 5,260 formerly convertible preference shares and 8,466,875 DR preference shares were tendered under the Offer.

The merger protocol entered into between Barclays and ABN AMRO on 23 April 2007 (and amended on 23 July and 30 July 2007) is now terminated in accordance with its terms and Barclays is requesting payment of the 200 million break fee to which it is contractually entitled. This break fee will significantly exceed the costs that Barclays incurred in connection with the Offer.

The Barclays share buyback programme will be terminated today and will restart without the restrictions specific to the Offer as announced on 2 August 2007. To date Barclays has in aggregate acquired approximately 140.9 million shares for cancellation at an average price of 622.5 pence. Under the new, restarted programme, up to £1.55 billion remains available to purchase a maximum of 196.0 million shares for cancellation during the period from 8 October to 31

December 2007. The objective of the restarted programme remains to immunise the dilutive effect of the issuance of shares to China Development Bank and Temasek on existing shareholders.

John Varley, Barclays Group CEO, said:

I thank Barclays shareholders and employees for their overwhelming support for this transaction over the past months. Barclays has strong momentum and I am confident that we will continue to deliver significant growth in the coming years.

Marcus Agius, Barclays Group Chairman, said:

The Board is proud of the way Barclays senior management conducted the campaign for ABN AMRO. We remain committed to continuing our successful strategy of Earn, Invest and Grow.

Dear Shareholder,

I am writing this letter to brief you on the subject of ABN AMRO. This letter is for information only: you need take no action on receiving it.

You will have seen that on 5 October we let our offer for ABN AMRO lapse. This letter allows me to thank you for your very strong support for our offer, and also to explain what lapsing the offer means for Barclays.

We structured our offer to meet the strict financial criteria that we always apply to merger and acquisition activity and to protect the interests of Barclays shareholders. By linking the value of our offer to the value of Barclays shares rather than offering a fixed price for ABN AMRO, we have shielded Barclays shareholders from overpaying in an environment where bank share prices have declined.

In the light of the higher, substantially cash-based offer for ABN AMRO from a consortium of banks, we have not obtained enough acceptances of our offer from ABN AMRO shareholders to win control of ABN AMRO. We have therefore let our offer lapse and have requested from ABN AMRO the 200 million break fee to which we are contractually entitled. This break fee will significantly exceed the costs of our offer.

As I explained in April, the ABN AMRO deal was a continuation in fact, an acceleration of our existing strategy and it presented an opportunity that your Board felt was right to explore. While the Board is naturally disappointed that our offer was not successful, pursuing ABN AMRO was fully consistent with the strategy that has enabled us to increase Barclays profits significantly over recent years by diversifying our earnings base and our strategy remains intact and unaltered.

In managing our portfolio of businesses, our objective has been to maximise the alignment between Barclays and the sources of growth in the global financial services industry. That growth will be very large in the years ahead and Barclays is well placed to benefit from it. In this regard, I am particularly encouraged by the partnership that we have recently agreed with China Development Bank. We are already developing mutually beneficial business opportunities and we expect to generate a substantial increase in our business with Chinese institutions both within and outside China as a result. We are also pleased that Temasek has made a significant investment in Barclays shares. These major investments represent a strong vote of confidence in Barclays and the strategy we are pursuing.

We will continue with a share buyback programme to offset the dilution to existing shareholders from the subscription of new shares by China Development Bank and Temasek in August.

I am pleased with the way our management team conducted the campaign for ABN AMRO and am grateful to all our employees who have remained focused on delivering results for shareholders and serving our customers.

Yours sincerely,

Marcus Agius

Chairman
