Lamperd Less Lethal, Inc. Announces First Quarter Results with a 471% Increase in Sales

SARNIA, ON--(Marketwired April 29, 2014) - Lamperd Less Lethal (PINKSHEETS: LLLI) announced that it has improved its quarterly sales by 471% with the first delivery of its Ultra-Light 40MM Single-Shot Grenade Launcher to the Canadian federal government. On April 24, 2014 the Canadian Federal Government congratulated Lamperd for the delivery of the equipment, " that represents an increased level of protection for correctional officers and inmates alike by providing a safer more accurate platform utilization of less lethal options employed in containment and control situations." Remaining units will be delivered in late 2014.

LLLI's main distributor in Canada has a meeting set up with governmental departments in Canada on May 14, 2014 which LLLI has been invited to attend. Also, LLLI has scheduled a demonstration for a large foreign military force in June 2014. While receiving orders from these types of agencies takes a prolonged period of time, Lamperd is optimistic about receiving substantial sized orders from these parties during the remainder of 2014 which should lead the company into profitability.

These new single and multi-shot launchers have stirred considerable interest in the worldwide less lethal market. Several national governments, armed forces personnel, police and security agencies from around the world have recently contacted Lamperd with great interest in the new product line.
