PWC Zhong Tian Shen Zi (2015) No. 0022

No. 1 (Page 1 of 2 pages)

Board of Directors of Sinopec Shanghai Petrochemical Company Limited:

We have audited the consolidated balance sheet of Sinopec Shanghai Petrochemical Company Limited (Sinopec Shanghai) as at December 31, 2014, its consolidated income statement, consolidated statement of changes in shareholders' equity interests, consolidated cash flow statement and notes to financial statements for 2014 (the Financial Statements), and issued a standard unqualified audit report numbered PWC Zhong Tian Shen Zi (2015) No. 10008 on March 20, 2015. The management of Sinopec Shanghai is responsible for preparing financial Statements that give a fair view, and our responsibility is to give an auditor's opinion on the Financial Statements as a whole on the basis of our audit carried out in accordance with China's auditing standards for certified public accountants.

On the basis of our audit of the above Financial Statements, we have provided assurance service with limited guarantee with respect to the accompanying summary statement about fund appropriations by, and other fund exchanges with, Sinopec Shanghai's controlling shareholder and other connected parties for the year ended December 31, 2014 (the Statement).

The Statement was prepared by Sinopec Shanghai in accordance with the requirements of the Circular on Regulating Fund Exchanges between Listed Companies and Their Connected Parties and External Guarantees by Listing Companies (Zheng Jian Fa [2003] No. 56) issued by China Securities Regulatory Commission and the State-owned Assets Supervision and Administration of the State Council, and by reference to the form of summary statement about fund appropriations set forth in Shanghai Stock Exchange's Memorandum III on Annual Reports of Listed Companies for 2011. The management of Sinopec Shanghai is responsible for designing, implementing and maintaining internal controls relating to the preparation of the Statement, preparing and publicly disclosing the Statement faithfully on a proper basis of preparation, and assuring the truth, lawfulness and completeness thereof.

Our responsibility is to make a conclusion on the Statement on the basis of the implementation of our assurance. We have implemented assurance in accordance with the provisions of Chinese CPA Standards on Other Assurance Engagements No. 3101 Assurance Engagements Other Than Audits or Reviews of Historical Financial Information, which requires us to plan and implement assurance in compliance with professional ethics, and get assurance on whether we have found any matter that makes us to believe there is material inconsistency between the information set forth in the Statement and the relevant information disclosed in the accounting materials and the Financial Statements reviewed during our audit of the Financial Statements. On the basis of our audit of the Financial Statements, we implemented work procedures which we considered necessary with respect to the Statement, including checking, inquiry and sampling of accounting records.

Auditor's Report on Internal Control

PWC Zhong Tian Te Shen Zi (2015) No. 0020

To All Shareholders of Sinopec Shanghai Petrochemical Company Limited:

We have audited the effectiveness of the internal control over financial reporting of Sinopec Shanghai Petrochemical Company Limited (the Company) as at December 31, 2014 in accordance with the Guidelines for Audit of Internal Control of Enterprises and the relevant requirements of the Professional Standards for China's Certified Public Accountants.

1. The Company's responsibility for internal control

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for establishing sound internal control, implementing such control effectively, and assessing its effectiveness in accordance with the Basic Standards for Internal Control of Enterprises, the Implementation Guidelines for Internal Control of Enterprises and the Guidelines for Assessment of Internal Control of Enterprises.

2. Certified public accountant's responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an auditor's opinion on the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting based on our audit and to disclose material deficiencies in internal controls unrelated to financial reporting that may have come to our attention.

3. Inherent limitations of internal control

Because of its inherent limitations, internal control may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, the projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that internal control may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

4. Auditor's opinion on internal control over financial reporting

In our opinion, the Company maintained, in all material aspects, effective internal control over financial reporting as at December 31, 2014 in accordance with the Basic Standards for Internal Control of Enterprises and the relevant requirements.

Assessment Report on Internal Control for 2014

All Shareholders of Sinopec Shanghai Petrochemical Company Limited:

In accordance with the provisions of the Basic Standards for Internal Control of Enterprise and its implementation guidelines as well as other regulatory requirements relating to internal control (hereinafter referred to as the Standards for Internal Control of Enterprises) and pursuant to the Internal Control Manual of Sinopec Shanghai Petrochemical Company Limited (hereinafter referred to as the Company) and the methods used by the Company for inspection and assessment, we have conducted an assessment of the effectiveness of the Company's internal control as at December 31, 2014 (i.e. the reference date of the internal control assessment report) based on our daily and special supervision of the internal control.

I. Important Statement

It is the responsibility of the Company's Board of Directors to establish sound internal control, implement such control effectively, assess its effectiveness and faithfully disclose assessment reports on internal control in accordance with the provisions contained in the Standards for Internal Control of Enterprises; the Board of Supervisors supervises the establishment and implementation of internal control by the Board of Directors; and the management is responsible for organizing and leading the daily operation of the Company's internal control. This Report was reviewed and adopted at the sixth meeting of the Eighth Session of the Board of Directors of the Company on March 20, 2015. The Company's Board of Directors, Board of Supervisors as well as the directors, supervisors and senior executives warrant that the information of this report contains no false representation, misleading statement or material omission, and jointly and severally bear legal liability for the truthfulness, accuracy and completeness of the information of this report.

The internal control of the Company aims to achieve the following objectives in a reasonable manner: (1) to ensure that the Company's operation and management are in compliance with applicable laws and regulations, the Company's assets are safe and the financial reports and relevant information are true and complete, (2) to improve the Company's operational efficiency and effect, and (3) to facilitate the implementation of the Company's development strategy. The Company has considered for its internal control five elements, namely the internal environment, risk assessment, control of activities, information and communication, and internal supervision.

However, because internal control has its inherent limitations, it can only provide a reasonable level of assurance to achieve the objectives mentioned above. Also, the projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that internal control may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the control policies or procedures may deteriorate.

II. Conclusion of Assessment of Internal Control

Following efforts made to find out whether there were material deficiencies in the Company's internal control over its financial reporting, it was concluded as at the reference date of the assessment report on internal control that no material deficiencies were detected in the internal control over financial reporting. The Board of Directors is of the view that the Company has maintained effective internal control over its financial reporting in all material respects in accordance with the requirements of the Standards for Internal Control of Enterprises and relevant provisions.

Following efforts made to find out whether there were material deficiencies in the Company's internal control unrelated to financial reporting, it was concluded as at the reference date of the assessment report on internal control that the Company has detected no material deficiencies in the internal control unrelated to financial reporting.

There occurred no elements that would affect the conclusion of the assessment of the internal control's effectiveness from the reference date of the assessment report on internal control to the date when the assessment report on internal control was released.

(II) Basis for Work Pertinent to Inspection and Assessment of Internal Control and Standards for Identifying Deficiencies in Internal Control

In order to facilitate the self-improvement of the internal control system, assure the effectiveness of internal control, enhance the effort to enforce the system, regulate operation and management, prevent major risks, achieve the objectives of control and comply with external regulatory requirements, the Company has conducted the assessment of internal control in accordance with the Standards for Internal Control of Enterprises and the Company's Internal Control Manual and the Methods for Inspection and Assessment of Internal Control.

In accordance with the requirements provided in the Standards for Internal Control of Enterprises for identifying material deficiencies, significant deficiencies and general deficiencies and pursuant to the Company's size, industrial characteristics, risk appetite, risk tolerance and other elements, the Company's Board of Directors differentiates internal control over financial reporting and internal control unrelated to financial reporting and, upon research, ascertains specific standards applicable to identification of deficiencies in the Company's internal control in consistent with those standards applicable for previous years.

It is expressly provided for in the Company's Internal Control Manual that deficiencies in internal control consist of deficiencies in design and deficiencies in operation, or material deficiencies, significant deficiencies and general deficiencies by severity, or deficiencies in internal control over financial reporting and deficiencies in internal control unrelated to financial reporting by specific manifestation, in which:

A material deficiency refers to a deficiency in control or a combination of several deficiencies in control, or serious loopholes in key areas or links that in each case may seriously affect the effectiveness of the overall internal control and further make it impossible to timely prevent or detect the occurrence of severe deviation from the objectives of the overall control; a deficiency meeting the standards for identifying a significant deficiency should be identified as a material deficiency if matters involved in such deficiency belong to material high-risk business matters.

A significant deficiency refers to a deficiency in control or a combination of several deficiencies in control, or loopholes in key areas or links whose severity is lower than that of a material deficiency but that may still make it impossible to timely prevent or detect the occurrence of deviation from the objectives of the overall control to a significant extent; a deficiency meeting the standards for identifying a general deficiency should be identified as a significant deficiency if matters involved in such deficiency belong to significant high-risk business matters of the Company.

General deficiencies refer to deficiencies other than material deficiencies and significant deficiencies.

The Company's standards for identifying deficiencies in its internal control consist of qualitative criteria and quantitative criteria. Deficiencies will be identified as existing in matters meeting both the qualitative criteria and quantitative criteria in a strict manner. Deficiencies in internal control, according to their particular forms of expression, are divided into deficiencies in internal control over financial reporting or deficiencies in internal control unrelated to financial reporting.

Table of Contents1. Standards for Identifying Deficiencies in Internal Control over Financial Reporting.

In accordance with the qualitative criteria, if (I) the directors, supervisors and senior executives commit fraudulent practice in any form, such as financial fraud, abuse of authority, corruption, acceptance of bribes, speculation, etc.; (II) the internal environment is ineffective, for example, the duties and authorities, the qualifications for members and the rules of procedure, of the audit committee (or similar organ) are not explicitly specified or fail to be implemented in a strict manner, and the supervision of the internal control by the audit committee (or similar organ) and the internal audit organ is ineffective; (III) there are deficiencies in control of the selection of financial and accounting systems, for example, the Company fails to select and apply accounting policies in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles or amends the accounting policies and accounting estimates at will, or the financial statements are prepared on improper basis, resulting in material misstatement in the financial report; (IV) general control deficiencies and application control deficiencies in information system relating to financial reporting (such as ERP system, BW/BCS system, centralized accounting system, centralized fund management system) directly causes material misstatement in or omission from the financial statements; (V) external auditor detects material misstatement in the annual audit and such misstatement fails to be dug out in the operation of internal control; (VI) amendments are made to published financial statements, except as required by applicable regulatory authorities, material deficiencies should be identified as existing in internal control over financial reporting.

In accordance with the quantitative criteria, in order to judge right it is necessary to calculate whether the impact of the potential misstatement that may arise upon occurrence of the deficiency upon the Company's total profit, total assets and total business income exceeds the established ratio. If the number of targets affected by a deficiency in control or a combination of several deficiencies in control is more than one (for instance, both the profit and the assets are affected), the value of each target should be calculated independently, and the deficiency should be identified based on the target whose value is the highest of all the targets involved.

(2) Standards for Identifying Deficiencies in Internal Control unrelated to Financial Reporting.

In accordance with the qualitative criteria, if (I) the duties and authorities between the governance (the Board of Directors and the Board of Supervisors) and the management are improperly divided and the personnel are highly overlapping, thus the governance lacks proper independence, the duties and authorities, the qualifications for members and the rules of procedure, of the Board of Directors and the professional committees thereof (other than the audit committee) are not explicitly specified or fail to be implemented in a strict manner; (II) the Company lacks democratic decision-making procedures, collective-decision making or joint signing system fails to be implemented in respect of decisions on Three Significant and One Major (i.e., appointments and removals of major officers, decisions on investment in major projects, applications of large amount of money) and other major issues, for example, significant acquisitions failed or it's unable to operate newly acquired units on a continuous basis due to unscientific decision-making procedure or faults in the decision-making procedure; (III) neither risk assessment has been conducted nor controlling measures have been established before the Company's major project is commenced and the Company may incur heavy losses as a result thereof; (IV) there is a lack of system control or such control fails for major business, including without limitation fund activities (including both investment and financing), procurement business, asset management, sales business, research and development, construction project, guarantee business and business outsourcing; (V) general control deficiencies and application control deficiencies in respect of the information system unrelated to financial reporting directly lead to severe deviation of an enterprise from certain business objectives, such as continuing operation, compliance, reputation, etc.; (VI) other material deficiencies unrelated to financial reporting arise as a result of improper internal control; (VII) a material deficiency in the Company's internal control fails to be effectively rectified within a reasonable period and still has significant impact upon the current period, material deficiencies should be identified as existing in internal control unrelated to financial reporting. In accordance with the quantitative criteria, it is necessary to calculate whether the impact of a deficiency upon staff turnover, direct property loss rate and extent of budget deviation exceeds the established ratio upon the occurrence thereof in order to determine the grade of the deficiency in internal control unrelated to financial reporting.
