Dear Fellow Shareholder,

In a continuing effort to shine the light of public scrutiny on the state of affairs at Prudential Bancorp, let us further look at how management continues to fall short of fulfilling its function as stewards of our capital.

Our Bank exists to serve the community and the public shareholders. It works with individuals to provide the capital they need to protect themselves in times of emergency, to fund their businesses, and to purchase their homes. Management has the capital to more than triple the loans they have made, and yet loans went down last year. Management said they would open more branches to better reach the Philadelphia community they serve; in three years it has opened one new branch. If Starbucks moved at the pace of our management, it would be a seven store chain.

These men are either unwilling or unable to utilize our Bank's resources to further support the local community through providing loans in line with its capacity. They have proven themselves incapable of earning anything better than a substandard return for the public shareholders. They so lack initiative that parts of the branch system are downright shabby. (Have you been to the Pennsport Mall branch recently?) Yet they are expending tremendous effort trying to get stock and options without a fair public shareholder vote. In my view, they neither adequately serve the community, the shareholders, or the local depositors. They merely serve themselves and each other. This, in my estimation, is a distasteful way for directors to behave and a shameful way for men to live.

Edgar Filing: PRUDENTIAL BANCORP INC OF PENNSYLVANIA - Form DFAN14A

If the Board could disagree with anything in my last letter, they would have responded. These custodians should act like men, not cowards, by publicly responding and writing to tell us why they believe they should be able to vote themselves millions of dollars of extra benefits without a public shareholder vote.

So tell us, Tom - how have you earned these shares?

Please vote to WITHHOLD on the green card. If you've already returned the Company's card, you can still change your vote by returning the green card to us today.

Sincerely,

/s/ Joseph Stilwell
