Dear Fellow Shareholders:

Do you remember the heady days of 1995? 1996? 1997? 1998? 1999?

I sure do. To refresh your memory, in each of those “easy money” years, the S&P 500 Index returned 37.6%, 23.0%, 33.4%, 28.6% and 21.0%, respectively. Over that 5-year stretch the S&P 500 Index returned an average of 28.6% per annum. I was co-managing a value oriented hedge fund at that time and its 5-year performance was “only” 17.5% per annum. Some people that rode the wave even quit their jobs to become day traders. Understandably, some of our investors became antsy because we were lagging the market indexes by so much.

With the dotcom boom in full swing, it seemed that almost any company that had “.com” as part of its name saw its stock price take off even if it had little or no revenues or earnings. As we now know, many of those companies left investors with huge losses. Some of the high flyers I can recall that subsequently collapsed are Pets.com, theGlobe.com, GeoCities, Lycos, and Infospace.* The coup de grâce to the tech bubble was the $164 billion merger between Time Warner and AOL. Time Warner Chief Gerald Levin announced the deal in grandiose terms, lauding its synergy to “create unprecedented and instantaneous access to every form of media and to unleash immense possibilities for economic growth, human understanding and creative expression.” It proved to be perhaps the most disastrous merger of all time.

After the tech bubble burst in early 2000, our hedge fund did much better in relative terms. From 2000 through 2002, the S&P 500 Index fell 37.6% while our hedge fund gained 24.2%. (Of course, past performance is no assurance of future results). The dotcom craze was followed by the real estate bubble and we all know how that ended. As Jeremy Grantham has quipped, “All bubbles share one thing in common; they are all considered to be unique.” Their proponents always seem to have a plausible rationale to explain why “it is different this time.” For example, to justify paying higher and higher prices for real estate assets, the bulls would simply say, “They’re not making any more land.” Of course, that is true but it is a non sequitur, as so many homeowners that now find themselves under water have learned, to conclude that a fixed supply means that real estate prices can only go up.

What is the point of all this reminiscing? It illustrates that it is inevitable that an investment strategy that produces superior long-term risk adjusted returns

*Through dumb luck, I personally owned some shares in a former closed-end fund that morphed into Xcelera.com, an internet company which then experienced arguably the greatest short-term stock price run-up of all time, up 74,000% from trough to peak. It eventually went to zero. How did I do? That is a long story.

Special Opportunities Fund, Inc.

without incurring inordinate short-term risk will underperform some of the time. Yet, if an investment manager is smart and keeps his eye on the ball, he is likely to succeed over the long term. That is, provided he does not blow up in the interim. The folks who ran Long Term Capital Management, the hedge fund that wound up as a spectacular failure in 1998, were as talented as they come but they were guilty of applying too much leverage to a good idea. As Ed Thorp, the Godfather of blackjack counting and hedged investing points out, “Any good investment, sufficiently leveraged, can lead to ruin.”

To reiterate what I have said in previous letters, my goal for Special Opportunities Fund, Inc. is to provide solid absolute returns for long-term shareholders. As a vote of confidence, my family members and I recently purchased shares of the Fund and I expect to ultimately acquire a sizeable position. Perhaps more significant, several of the independent directors have also purchased shares of the Fund. Finally, a number of savvy investors in closed-end funds have recently acquired shares. In sum, we have plenty of demanding people looking over our shoulder and thus no lack of motivation to perform well. I sure do not want to disappoint our shareholders.

But, enough philosophical musings. As we have previously disclosed, Special Opportunities Fund, Inc. is now a completely different animal from what it was when it was known as Insured Municipal Income Fund Inc. Nevertheless, some long-term shareholders may still not be aware of the changes. Therefore, I think it bears repeating to describe the Fund’s developments since the summer of 2009.

From its inception in 1993 until 2009, Insured Municipal Income Fund Inc. invested exclusively in tax free bonds. After a proxy contest that ended on August 12, 2009, a new Board of Directors was elected to manage the Fund. The Fund’s former investment advisor, UBS Global Asset Management (Americas) Inc. then resigned effective October 18, 2009. The newly elected Board voted to (1) replace UBS with Brooklyn Capital Management LLC (“BCM”), a newly formed investment advisor of which Andrew Dakos, Steve Samuels and I are principals, and (2) change the Fund’s principal investment objective from one of providing tax free income to one of providing total return. These changes were subsequently approved by stockholders. The name of the Fund was also changed to Special Opportunities Fund, Inc. (and its stock symbol changed from PIF to SPE), to conform to its new objective and BCM’s opportunistic investment philosophy.

In September 2009, the Board commenced a program to conduct an orderly sale of all of the Fund’s portfolio securities in order to fund a self-tender offer for the Fund’s common shares. The purpose of the self-tender offer was to fulfill a commitment we made during the proxy contest to afford stockholders an opportunity to realize the intrinsic value of their shares. Only after the tender offer was completed did BCM begin to invest the Fund’s remaining assets in accordance with its new investment objective and policies. BCM voluntarily waived its management fees until the tender offer was completed. That happened on January 22, 2010. All of the shares that were tendered were accepted for payment at a price of $14.18 per share (99.5% of the NAV per common share of $14.25).

After the tender offer, the Fund commenced its new life with net assets of $96 million or $14.41 per share (up from $14.25 as a result of accretion from the tender offer) in cash and cash equivalents. Thus, investors who wish to evaluate the investment merits of the Fund as it is now being managed should probably disregard any data prior to January 25, 2010, the next business day following completion of the tender offer. Finally, in conjunction with the aforementioned changes, the Fund discontinued paying monthly dividends. Instead, we expect the Fund to pay an annual distribution as required to avoid any adverse tax consequences. That distribution will likely consist exclusively of taxable income and capital gains.

How has the Fund performed since BCM started managing it? So far, so good, in large part due to the fact that we were not fully invested when the market fell off toward the end of the second quarter. From January 25, 2010 until June 30, 2010, the Fund's net asset value fell by 1.2% while the S&P 500 Index fell by 4.7%. As of August 24, 2010, the Fund is up 2.8% since July 1st and up 1.5% since January 25th. The comparable numbers for the S&P 500 Index are up 2.4% and down 2.5%, respectively.

As I stated in my previous letter, since January 25th, BCM has methodically and opportunistically made investments in shares of discounted closed-end funds and other attractive investments that it believes are undervalued. Currently, the Fund has about 12% in cash and cash equivalents.

A few of the closed-end funds we own have recently announced or even consummated liquidity events that led to the narrowing of their discounts. We have also acquired the auction rate preferred shares ("ARP") of some closed-end funds at a discount to their liquidation value. Some of the ARPs we held have already been redeemed but a series of recent lawsuits and threatened lawsuits against a number of closed-end funds have led to a slowdown in the pace of redemptions. We do not think these lawsuits will be successful but some closed-end fund managements have decided to take a wait and see approach before redeeming more ARPs. We note that the ARP shareholders of any fund are entitled, as a class, to elect two directors. As a last resort, if any fund management balks at redeeming our ARPs, we may nominate directors that will advocate for their redemption.

Other than closed-end funds, we have some investments that are relatively uncorrelated to the market but that have attractive risk-reward characteristics.

Special Opportunities Fund, Inc.

For example, the Fund owns two special purpose acquisition (or blank check) companies (“SPAC”). The money raised by a SPAC in its initial public offering is placed in a trust account at a major bank, typically for two years or until shareholders vote on a proposed acquisition. Any shareholder can vote against the transaction and redeem his shares for a pro rata share of the trust account. We look at a SPAC as akin to cash equivalents with a free option on a potentially attractive acquisition.

For example, Liberty Acquisition Holdings, a SPAC we own, has announced a transaction in which it intends, by the end of 2010, to acquire a controlling interest in Grupo Prisa, a large publicly traded Spanish based media company. Liberty has $9.87 per share in cash. With its stock trading at about $10.00, there is significant upside if the deal is approved. That is because the value of the shares of Prisa to be exchanged for each share of Liberty is currently in excess of $11. On the other hand, if Liberty’s shareholders do not approve the transaction, there is limited downside since, in that event, the SPAC is required to liquidate and we would get the $9.87 per share held in the trust account.

We also have made investments in the debt securities of a few companies including General Growth Properties that are expected to emerge from bankruptcy in the near future. Like SPACs, such investments are relatively uncorrelated to the market. The debt of companies in bankruptcy is often mispriced because many institutional investors are prohibited from investing in such companies. These sorts of artificial constraints on the free flow of capital can create opportunities for the Fund because it has the flexibility to make an investment solely based upon BCM’s assessment of an investment’s risk and reward.

Finally, we have begun to nibble at some undervalued operating companies where we can, if necessary, take an activist role to enhance the value of our investments. In the future, we expect shareholder activism to play a significant role in our investment strategy.

Although it is obviously too early to definitively assess our efforts, I am pleased that we have made meaningful progress in assembling a portfolio that we believe is poised to outperform the market over time. As I said previously, I think investors can benefit from the unique advantages of the closed-end fund structure. Unfortunately, that promise has often been unfulfilled because the manager either lacked the talent or the motivation to outperform. While no one can guarantee investment success, I can guarantee that the Board, BCM and I will never become complacent about our mission to make Special Opportunities Fund, Inc. a long term success.

Sincerely yours,

Phillip Goldstein
Chairman

Past performance does not predict future performance. The return and value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's share, when sold, may be worth more or less than their original cost. The Fund's common stock net asset value ("NAV") return assumes, for illustration only, that dividends and other distributions, if any, were reinvested at the NAV on payable dates for dividends and other distributions payable through December 31, 2009 and reinvested at the NAV on the ex-dividend date for dividends and other distributions payable after December 31, 2009. The Fund's common stock market price returns assume that all dividends and other distributions, if any, were reinvested at prices obtained under the Fund's Dividend Reinvestment Plan (which was terminated on January 1, 2010) for dividends and other distributions payable through December 31, 2009 and reinvested at the lower of the NAV or the closing market price on the ex-dividend date for dividends and other distributions payable after December 31, 2009. NAV and market price returns for the period of less than one year have not been annualized. Returns do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder could pay on Fund dividends and other distributions, if any, or the sale of Fund shares.

The Fund's investment objective and investment adviser have changed (see Notes to financial statements). On January 25, 2010, the Fund began investing using its new investment objective. Therefore, past performance is not relevant to the Fund going forward.

The Fund has discontinued the use of the Barclays Capital Municipal Bond Index as the primary index and replaced it with the S&P 500 Index. The Fund believes that use of the S&P 500 Index provides a better comparative benchmark than the Barclays Capital Municipal Bond Index because of the Fund's new investment objective.

The S&P 500 Index is a capital weighted, unmanaged index that represents the aggregate market value of the common equity of 500 stocks primarily traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Financial highlights

- (1) Calculated using the average shares method.
- (2) Recognition of net investment income by the Fund is affected by the timing and declaration of dividends by the underlying investment companies in which the Fund invests.
- (3) Total net asset value return is calculated assuming a $10,000 purchase of common stock at the current net asset value on the first day of each period reported and a sale at the current net asset value on the last day of each period reported, and assuming reinvestment of dividends and other distributions at the net asset value on the payable date for dividends and other distributions payable through December 31, 2009 and reinvested at the NAV on the ex-dividend date for dividends and other distributions payable after December 31, 2009. Total investment return based on net asset value is hypothetical as investors can not purchase or sell Fund shares at net asset value but only at market prices. Returns do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder could pay on Fund dividends and other distributions, if any, or the sale of Fund shares.
- (4) Total market price return is calculated assuming a $10,000 purchase of common stock at the current market price on the first day of each period reported and a sale at the current market price on the last day of each period reported, and assuming reinvestment of dividends and other distributions to common shareholders at prices obtained under the Fund's Dividend Reinvestment Plan (which was terminated on January 1, 2010) for dividends and other distributions payable through December 31, 2009 and reinvested at the lower of the NAV or the closing market price on the ex-dividend date for dividends and other distributions payable after December 31, 2009. Total investment return does not reflect brokerage commissions and has not been annualized for the period of less than one year. Returns do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder could pay on Fund dividends and other distributions, if any, or the sale of Fund shares.
- (5) Annualized.
- (6) Interest expense represents interest and fees on short term floating rate notes issued in conjunction with inverse floating rate securities. Interest income from such transactions is included in income from investment operations.
- (7) Does not include expenses of the investment companies in which the Fund invests.

Note 1

Organization and significant accounting policies

Special Opportunities Fund, Inc. (formerly, Insured Municipal Income Fund Inc.) (the “Fund”) was incorporated in Maryland on February 18, 1993, and is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a closed-end diversified management investment company. Effective December 21, 2009, the Fund changed its name to the Special Opportunities Fund, Inc. and changed its investment objective to total return. The Fund’s previous investment objective was to achieve a high level of current income that is exempt from federal income tax, consistent with the preservation of capital. There can be no assurance that the Fund’s investment objective will be achieved.

In the normal course of business, the Fund may enter into contracts that contain a variety of representations or that provide indemnification for certain liabilities. The Fund’s maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Fund that have not yet occurred. However, the Fund has not had prior claims or losses pursuant to these contracts and expects the risk of loss to be remote.

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with Accounting Standards Codification Topic 105 Generally Accepted Accounting Principles requires the Fund’s management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates. In preparing these financial statements, the Fund has evaluated events and transactions for potential recognition or disclosure through the date the financial statements were issued. The following is a summary of significant accounting policies:

Valuation of investments—The Fund calculates its net asset value based on the current market value for its portfolio securities. The Fund normally obtains market values for its securities from independent pricing sources and broker-dealers. Independent pricing sources may use last reported sale prices or if not available the most recent bid price, current market quotations or valuations from computerized “matrix” systems that derive values based on comparable securities. A matrix system incorporates parameters such as security quality, maturity and coupon, and/or research and evaluations by its staff, including review of broker-dealer market price quotations, if available, in determining the valuation of the portfolio securities. If a market value is not available from an independent pricing source or a broker-dealer for a particular security, that security is valued at fair value as determined in good faith by or under the direction of the Fund’s Board of Directors (the “Board”). Various factors may be reviewed in order to make a good faith determination of a security’s fair value. These factors may include, but are not limited to, the type and cost of the security; contractual or legal restrictions on resale of the security; relevant financial or business developments of the issuer; actively traded similar or related securities; conversion or exchange rights on the security; related corporate actions; and changes in overall market conditions. If events occur that materially affect the value of securities between the close of trading in those securities and the close of regular trading on the New York Stock Exchange, the securities are fair valued. The amortized cost method of valuation, which approximates market value, generally is used to value short-term debt instruments with sixty days or less remaining to maturity, unless the Board or its delegate determines that this does not represent fair value.

Special Opportunities Fund, Inc.

Notes to financial statements (unaudited)

The Fund has adopted fair valuation accounting standards that establish an authoritative definition of fair value and set out a hierarchy for measuring fair value. These standards require additional disclosures about the various input and valuation techniques used in measuring fair value. Fair value inputs are summarized in the three broad levels listed below:

- Level 1— Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Fund has the ability to access.
- Level 2— Observable inputs other than quoted prices included in Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly. These inputs may include quoted prices for the identical instrument on an inactive market, prices for similar instruments, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, yield curves, default rates and similar data.
- Level 3— Unobservable inputs for the asset or liability, to the extent relevant observable inputs are not available, representing the Fund's own assumptions about the assumptions a market participant would use in valuing the asset or liability, and would be based on the best information available.

The availability of observable inputs can vary from security to security and is affected by a wide variety of factors, including, for example, the type of security, whether the security is new and not yet established in the marketplace, the liquidity of markets, and other characteristics particular to the security. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised in determining fair value is greatest for instruments categorized in Level 3.

The inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposes, the level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement falls in its entirety, is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety.

The following is a summary of the fair valuations according to the inputs used as of June 30, 2010 in valuing the Fund's investments:

	Quoted Prices in Active Markets for Identical Investments (Level 1)	Significant Other Observable Inputs (Level 2)	Unobservable Inputs (Level 3)	Total

The following is a reconciliation of Level 3 assets for which significant unobservable inputs were used to determine fair value:

Balance as of December 31, 2009	$—
Accrued discounts / premiums	—
Realized gain (loss)	216,250
Change in unrealized appreciation (depreciation)	—
Net purchases (sales)	16,757,625
Transfers in and / or out of Level 3	—
Balance as of June 30, 2010	$16,973,875

In January 2010, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued Accounting Standards Update "Improving Disclosures about Fair Value Measurements" ("ASU"). The ASU requires enhanced disclosures about a) transfers into and out of Levels 1 and 2, and b) purchases, sales, issuances, and settlements on a gross basis relating to Level 3 measurements. The first disclosure is effective for the first reporting period beginning after December 15, 2009, and for interim periods within those fiscal years. There were no significant transfers into and out of Levels 1 and 2 during the current period presented.

The second disclosure will become effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2010, and for interim periods within those fiscal years. Management is currently evaluating the impact, if any, this disclosure may have on the Fund's financial statements.

Special Opportunities Fund, Inc.

Notes to financial statements (unaudited)

Investment transactions and investment income—Investment transactions are recorded on the trade date. Realized gains and losses from investment transactions are calculated using the identified cost method. Interest income is recorded on an accrual basis. Discounts are accreted and premiums are amortized as adjustments to interest income and the identified cost of investments.

Futures contracts—Upon entering into a financial futures contract, the Fund was required to deliver to a broker an amount of cash and/or securities equal to a certain percentage of the contract amount. This amount is known as the “initial margin.” Subsequent payments, known as “variation margin”, was made or received by the Fund each day, depending on the daily fluctuations in the value of the underlying financial futures contracts. Such variation margin was recorded for financial statement purposes on a daily basis as unrealized gain or loss until the financial futures contract was closed, at which time the net gain or loss was reclassified to realized gain or loss on futures. Variation margin calls could have been substantial in the event of adverse price movements.

Using financial futures contracts involves various market risks. If the Fund was unable to liquidate a futures position due to the absence of a liquid secondary market or the imposition of price limits, it could incur substantial losses and would continue to be subject to market risk with respect to the position. In addition, the Fund was required to make variation margin payments and was required to maintain the position being hedged or to maintain cash or securities in a separate account. Furthermore, certain characteristics of the futures market might increase the risk that movements in the prices of the financial futures contracts might not correlate perfectly with movements in the prices of the investments being hedged, including temporary price distortion. The separate account for margin was maintained at the futures counterparty and would be subject to risks or delays if the counterparty becomes insolvent. The Fund had no futures contracts outstanding during the six months ended June 30, 2010.

Dividends and distributions—Dividends from net investment income and distributions of net realized capital gains, if any, will be declared and paid at least annually. The Board declared a dividend from net investment income in December 2009 that was payable in January 2010. Dividends and distributions to common shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date. Prior to October 2009, dividends to auction preferred shareholders were accrued daily. The amount of dividends from net investment income and distributions from net realized capital gains was determined in accordance with federal income tax regulations, which may differ from U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. These “book/tax” differences are either considered temporary or permanent in nature. To the extent these differences are permanent in nature, such amounts are reclassified within the capital accounts based on their federal tax-basis treatment; temporary differences do not require reclassification.

Investment advisor and administrator

Effective October 19, 2009, the Board appointed Brooklyn Capital Management, LLC (“Brooklyn”) as the interim investment adviser to the Fund. At a Special Meeting of Shareholders held on December 10, 2009, shareholders approved an investment advisory agreement between the Fund and Brooklyn. In accordance with the investment advisory agreement, the Fund is obligated to pay Brooklyn a monthly investment advisory fee at an annual rate of 1.00% of the Fund’s average weekly net assets. Brooklyn agreed to waive its investment advisory fee, subject to reimbursement for reasonable expenses, until the Fund commenced and completed a tender offer for its common stock, which was completed in January 2010. The Fund entered into an administrative services agreement (the “Administration Agreement”) with U.S. Bancorp Fund Services, LLC (the “Administrator”), which was effective on October 19, 2009.

Brooklyn waived $193,377 of investment advisory fees for the six months ended June 30, 2010.

Note 3

Auction preferred shares

The Fund was subject to certain restrictions relating to the APS. Failure to comply with these restrictions could have precluded the Fund from declaring any distributions to common shareholders or repurchasing common shares and/or could have triggered the mandatory redemption of APS at liquidation value.

All APS were redeemed in October 2009.

Note 4

Purchases and sales of securities

For the six months ended June 30, 2010, aggregate purchases and sales of portfolio securities, excluding short-term securities, were $73,227,582 and $4,471,885, respectively.

Note 5

Capital share transactions

During the six months ended June 30, 2010, a total of 13,951,912.342 shares or approximately 67.63% of the Fund’s outstanding common shares were validly tendered pursuant to a tender offer approved by the Board. All such shares were accepted for payment at a price of $14.18 per share (99.5% of the NAV per common share of $14.25).

Note 6

Federal tax status

The Fund intends to distribute its income and to comply with the other requirements of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies. Accordingly, no provision for federal income taxes is required. In addition, by distributing during each calendar year substantially all of its net investment income, net realized capital gains and certain other amounts, if any, the Fund would not to be subject to a federal excise tax.

The tax character of distributions paid during the nine months ended December 31, 2009 and the fiscal year ended March 31, 2009 were as follows:

	For the nine months ended December 31, 2009	For the year ended March 31, 2009
Distributions paid from:
Tax-exempt income	$ 11,378,171	$ 17,283,881
Ordinary income	—	2,066
Total distributions paid	$ 11,378,171	$ 17,285,947

The Fund designated as long-term capital gain dividends, pursuant to Internal Revenue Code Section 852(b)(3), the amount necessary to reduce the earnings and profits for the Fund related to net capital gains to zero for the nine months ended December 31, 2009.

The following information is presented on an income tax basis as of December 31, 2009:

Tax cost of investments	$289,282,207
Net unrealized appreciation	—
Undistributed tax exempt income	1,010,614
Undistributed long-term gains	—
Total distributable earnings	1,010,614
Other accumulated losses and other temporary differences	(8,852,124)
Total accumulated losses	(7,841,510)

The differences between book-basis and tax-basis unrealized appreciation/depreciation of investments is attributable to the realization for tax purposes of unrealized gains/losses on certain securities that were marked-to-market and tax treatment of certain tender option bond transactions and premium amortization adjustments.

At December 31, 2009, the Fund had a net capital loss carryforward of $6,515,933. This loss carryforward is available as a reduction, to the extent provided in the regulations, of any future net realized capital gains and will expire on December 31, 2016. To the extent that such losses are used to offset future net realized capital gains, it is probable these gains will not be distributed.

Special Opportunities Fund, Inc.

Notes to financial statements (unaudited)

In accordance with U.S. Treasury regulations, the Fund has elected to defer realized capital losses of $1,511,056 arising after October 31, 2009. Such losses are treated for tax purposes as arising on January 1, 2010.

For the nine months ended December 31, 2009, the Fund did not have any liabilities for any unrecognized tax positions. The Fund recognizes interest and penalties, if any, related to unrecognized tax positions as income tax expense in the Statement of operations. During the nine months ended December 31, 2009, the Fund did not incur any interest or penalties.

Each of the tax years in the three year period ended March 31, 2009 and the nine months ended December 31, 2009, remains subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service and state taxing authorities.

Brooklyn Capital Management, LLC

Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures

Proxy Voting Policies

Brooklyn Capital Management, LLC (“Brooklyn Capital”) recognizes and adheres to the principle that one of the privileges of owning stock in a company is the right to vote on issues submitted to shareholder vote, such as election of directors and important matters affecting a company’s structure and operations. As an investment adviser with a fiduciary responsibility to the Special Opportunities Fund, Inc. (the “Fund”), Brooklyn Capital analyzes the proxy statements of issuers whose stock is owned by the Fund and votes proxies on behalf of the Fund.

Brooklyn Capital’s decisions with respect to proxy issues are made in light of the anticipated impact of the issue on the desirability of investing in the portfolio company. Proxies are voted solely in the interests of the Fund and its shareholders.

Proxy Voting Procedures

In evaluating proxy statements, the Fund’s portfolio managers rely upon their own fundamental research, and information presented by company management and shareholder groups. Brooklyn Capital will not delegate its proxy voting responsibility on behalf of the Fund to a third party proxy voting service.

Proxy Voting Guidelines

Brooklyn Capital will generally vote proxies in favor of proposals that, in the opinion of the Fund's portfolio managers, seek to enhance shareholder democracy. In those instances where shareholder democracy is not affected by the issue submitted to vote, Brooklyn Capital will endeavor to vote in the best economic interest of the Fund. With respect to proxies of closed-end investment companies whose shares are held by the Fund, Brooklyn Capital adheres to a "mirror voting" policy, whereby Brooklyn Capital will vote its shares in proportion to those votes cast by such investment company's shareholders.

Monitoring and Resolving Conflicts of Interest

When reviewing proxy statements and related research materials, the Fund's portfolio managers will consider whether any business or other relationships between a portfolio manager, Brooklyn Capital and a portfolio company could influence a vote on such proxy matter. With respect to personal conflicts of interest, Brooklyn Capital's Code of Ethics requires all members to avoid activities, perquisites, gifts, or receipt of investment opportunities that could interfere with their ability to act objectively and effectively in the best interests of Brooklyn Capital and the Fund, and restricts their ability to engage in certain outside business activities. Portfolio managers with a personal conflict of interest regarding a particular proxy vote must recuse themselves and not participate in the voting decisions with respect to that proxy.
