The S&P Agreement will encompass the following terms:

1. S&P ESCROW. The Classic Shareholders will deliver to ACL 51% of the Capital of Classic in exchange for the "Consideration".
2. TERMS OF S&P AGREEMENT. The parties shall negotiate in good faith to reach agreement on a reasonably acceptable S&P Agreement, to be drafted by counsel for ACL, containing customary covenants, representations, warranties, indemnities, non-compete, non-solicitation, anti-dilutive and other provisions, it being understood however that any shares of ACL Common Stock issued between the date hereof and the closing to directors and officers of ACL will have an unlimited indemnity from the issues thereof.
3. CONDITIONS TO CLOSING. The closing of the S&P Agreement (the "Closing") shall be subject to the following conditions:

-1-

- (a) Classic will have positive net assets at the time of Closing;
 - (b) Classic warrants that its audited net operating profit for fiscal year ending March 31 2004 will be not less than US$2 million and
 - (c) ACL will have maintained its listed status on the OTC Bulletin Board market.
4. EXPENSES. ACL will pay all fees of its legal counsel associated with the S&P, including the drafting, preparation and negotiation of the S&P Agreement and all other necessary documentation. The Classic Shareholders will pay all fees of its legal counsel associated with the S&P.
5. ACCESS. Each party shall provide to the other party access to its books, records, financial statements and other information as may reasonably be necessary for the other party to complete its due diligence.
6. NO-SHOP. ACL contemplates the expenditure of substantial time and money in connection with the preparation and negotiation of the S&P Agreement and the due diligence required thereby. Accordingly, upon execution of this Letter of Intent and for a period of 180 days from the date hereof (the "No-Shop Period"), neither party, directly or indirectly, through any representative or otherwise will solicit or entertain offers from, negotiate with or in any manner encourage, discuss, accept or consider the proposal of any other person relating to the acquisition of the stock of either party or business, in whole or in part, whether through direct purchase, merger, consolidation or other business combination without the written consent of the other party. The parties further represent and warrant that there are no existing letters of intent, or other agreements to which either ACL or Classic are bound with respect to the sale of the companies, the stocks of the companies or substantially all of its assets or that conflict with any to the foregoing transactions.
7. GOVERNING LAW. This Letter of Intent shall be interpreted, construed and enforced in accordance with the laws of Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, without giving effect to its rule or principles governing conflicts of laws that would compel the application of the substantive law of any other jurisdiction.

8. BINDING CONSENT. While it is understood that this Letter of Intent, with the exception of the Sections 4 and 6, does not constitute a binding agreement between the parties, it does set forth the understanding in principle and the present intention of the parties to enter into a definitive agreement providing for the above understandings upon the terms and conditions mutually acceptable to the parties. This Letter of Intent (other than Section 4) shall terminate unless the parties enter into the S&P Agreement prior to the expiration of the No-Shop Period.
9. TERMINATION. This Letter of Intent may be terminated:

- (a) By mutual written consent of the parties;
- (b) Upon execution by the parties of the S&P Agreement;
- (c) Upon written notice by either party that the due diligence is not satisfactory; or
- (d) Upon written notice by any party to the other party if the S&P Agreement has not been executed prior to the expiration of the No-Shop Period; provided, however, that the termination of the binding provisions shall not effect the liability of any party of breach of any of the binding provisions prior to the termination. Upon termination, the parties shall have no further obligations hereunder.
