A proposal by President Bush's tax-reform panel to convert the mortgage-interest deduction to a 15 percent tax credit is getting mixed reviews. Currently, taxpayers who itemize can deduct interest paid during the year on a mortgage up to $1 million, and a home-equity loan worth up to $100,000. If the panel's proposal is enacted, mortgages eligible for the tax break would be limited by a formula reflecting the average regional price of housing. Today, that range would be from $227,000 to $412,000 nationwide. Mortgages for second homes and interest paid on home-equity loans would not be eligible for the 15 percent credit. Keep in mind a deduction lowers your taxable income while a credit lowers the tax you must pay.

Pinnacle Moves Into Top 10 in Market Share

Pinnacle moved into the top 10 in the most recent ranking of financial institutions' market share in the Nashville-Davidson-Murfreesboro MSA, based on the most recent deposit data from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC). With about $693 million in deposits as of the end of June, Pinnacle ranked No. 9 in the MSA, compared to its No. 12 ranking last year when the firm reported $468 million in deposits.

Cavalry Banking, which is expected to become part of Pinnacle in early 2006 as the two institutions close on their acquisition agreement, was ranked first in market share in Rutherford County. The deposits of Pinnacle and Cavalry together would put the combined institution in the sixth position in market share in the MSA.*

New Faces at Pinnacle

Joy Hagan

Pinnacle welcomes financial advisor Joy Hagan as senior vice president and office manager for the firm's Cool Springs office. Joy brings 20 years of experience from US Bank where she most recently served as branch manager for its Brentwood office. She previously managed its Brentwood, Green Hills and Belle Meade offices. Joy holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Tennessee and attended the Vanderbilt School of Banking. She is active in the Brentwood Chamber of Commerce and Junior Achievement.

Pinnacle also welcomes the following service specialists:

Beverly Garrett brings 33 years of experience from AmSouth/First American. She comes from its Music Row office where she served as a client service representative. Previously she was a financial assistant in its Private Client/Wealth Management area.

Debbie Litchfield brings 8 years of experience from SunTrust Bank where she served as assistant branch manager at its Dickerson Road office.

Kathi Rougon brings 15 years of experience from AmSouth/First American where she most recently served as an assistant vice president and project manager. She has also held roles of human resources recruiter, teller training instructor and branch service manager.

Pinnacle Partners with Nashville Saves to Bank Pennies

Pinnacle and other financial institutions in town recently partnered with Nashville Saves in an event to help convert loose change into savings accounts. Because of the effort, $3,943.22 that was laying around somewhere as loose change is now earning interest in new savings accounts.

The newly-designed $10 bill, the first redesign for this bill since 2000, is slated to be in circulation early next year. The most visible difference? Color. The new design features splashes of red, yellow and orange. The Statue of Liberty's torch is in red, as is the phrase "We the People" on the bill's front. The background of the bill is a subtle orange, and small "10s" around the torch are in yellow on the front of the bill and to the right of the U.S. Treasury building on the back of the bill.

New security features include a security thread running through the bill that says "USA Ten" when held to the light, a faint watermark to the right of Alexander Hamilton's image when the bill is held up to the light, and a change in ink color from copper to green on the lower right side when the bill is shifted under the light.

The new bill is being introduced as the federal government continues its effort to thwart counterfeiting.

Most Nashville business leaders (56.4 percent) viewed the local economy in third quarter as unchanged from the second quarter, and a large majority (81.9 percent) characterized the national economy as average or above average for the third quarter.

Of those who responded to Pinnacle's Third Quarter Economic Index survey, nearly three-quarters said rising fuel prices after Hurricanes Katrina and Rita have adversely impacted their businesses, and nearly half of those plan to pass some or all of the increased costs to their customers.

These are three of the key findings in the Pinnacle Third Quarter Economic Index. Click here for the full report.

Pinnacle Ranks First in Small Business Loans

Pinnacle Financial Partners has been ranked as the Nashville area's top small business lender based on its dollar volume of small business loans. The ranking is based on data from the Small Business Administration.

Cavalry Banking in Rutherford County, slated to become a part of Pinnacle when the two close on their acquisition agreement by early 2006, is ranked No. 4 on the list. Together, Pinnacle and Cavalry have $351 million in small business loans, which is nearly double that of the No. 2 lender's $182 million.

None of the large regional financial institutions represented in Middle Tennessee made the list.

Since we founded Pinnacle five years ago, our focus has been on small businesses and their owners/operators, said Terry Turner, president and CEO. This ranking is another proof point that our financial advisors are meeting the financial needs of this segment better than anyone else in the market. *

Counsel On Call Makes Inc. 500

Pinnacle client Counsel On Call, a placement company that provides attorneys to work in a contract capacity to law firms and corporate legal departments, was named to the 2005 Inc. 500. This is the second consecutive year the Brentwood-based company has made Inc.'s prestigious list. This year Counsel On Call was ranked No. 380 based on three-year growth of 360 percent and annual revenues of $4.9 million.

Congratulations to Counsel On Call for the well-deserved recognition.
